

I started my journey with IBM in August, 2016. After 8 years, I made a hard decision to leave IBM in June 2024.

I joined IBM because I believed in the company's mission and culture: to lead in creating, developing, and manufacturing the industry's most advanced information technologies. Along these 8 years, I witnessed the company truly lead the world by turning this mission into reality. I take immense pride in being an IBMer.

I truly love IBM and I cherish the incredible people with whom I've had the privilege of working. But after such a long time, I want to take another steep learning curve and become the driving force to accelerate my personal transformation.

With this ambition, I am joining Google, supporting the org. I firmly believe that AI can bring a revolutionary change to daily life for individuals. I am thrilled about the opportunity to learn and be a part of this transformative journey at Google.

Extending what I was doing in the past years (e.g., cognitive service management, and one member of elite team of IBM Watson AIOps), at Google, I want to keep contributing to the AI community in general.
